We are five days away from the Iowa Caucuses, and the polls have us in a three-way tie for first.

I know we're usually telling you to keep pushing forward, knock on doors, attend a phone bank, donate what you can. But for just a moment, I want you to let this sink in: We are frontrunners in this race.

I am so proud of everything we have done to get to this point. When we started this campaign, we were written off as a long shot. While other candidates got high-profile interviews and celebrity endorsements, we got to work.

Now that work is paying off. Tammy's message is resonating. Her poll numbers are rising. We are fighting every day, and we are so, so close. No matter what happens next Monday, we will be looking at a strong showing.

But a "strong showing" isn't good enough. A "strong showing" won't give us the momentum we need going forward. We have to win.

And here's the part where I tell you to keep pushing forward, to knock on doors, to attend a phone bank, to donate what you can. Iowa will be decided by a razor-thin margin. We are running a phenomenal campaign. We're also running against some phenomenal campaigns. But we have one thing they don't:

You.

With your help, we can make a statement. Do your part to help Tammy win Iowa. Your $10 donation could be the difference between a victory in Iowa and a "strong showing."

From here on out, it's all about hustle. We have five days to push Tammy over the edge. Let's win this damn thing.

Thanks,
Kevin
